Two More Not Too Many

Christmas Day, 1994. Steve '79 and Janice Thompson gather with Daniel, age 12, Carrie, 9, and their two youngest children, 21-month-old twins. The little boys don't understand much of what is said to them. Perhaps they hear their names and recognize that part of the joy of this Christmas season is because of them. But the language, the setting, the people are all still new. Only a few days before, Steve and Janice had stepped onto a plane in Russia, carrying their new twin boys, Stephen Nikita and Robert Ilya. Adopted out of an orphanage in Petrozavodsk, the boys begin to learn, this Christmas in Xenia, Ohio, what a family is.

"I like playing with them," says Carrie, "But you don't get to do anything by yourself anymore." Indeed, the two-year-olds' pace matches their dad's rapid-fire pronunciation when he practices his profession as an auctioneer. Steve says, "Everything takes twice as long with twins. But as the Bible says, 'Happy is the man who has his quiver full' of children." (Psalm 127:5)

Janice gets a lot of help from Daniel, who shares his room with the boys, and Carrie, who is home-schooled. Bobby and Stephen are small for their age and had some minor health problems due to lack of enough milk and nutritional foods in the orphanage. "They're doing well with a good diet and lots of exercise," Janice shares. "They've each gained five to six pounds in the last few months." The boys have also changed the Thompson household. According to Janice, the biggest difference is the noise level. "If they're quiet, it's bad news—they're getting into something."

Steve explains, "When we realized we were not able to have more children biologically, we began to look into adoption. We were specifically looking and praying for a sibling group. We would have been happy to adopt two or three children." Janice says the adoption process is a long road, but the Lord opened doors every step of the way. While the Thompsons were waiting for final approval to adopt the two boys, President Boris Yeltsin vetoed a law in Russia that would have prohibited foreign adoptions. Soon after the Thompsons returned, Russian legislators passed a similar six-month moratorium.

The Thompsons worked through Americans for International Aid and Adoption (AIAA) to adopt the boys, a process which culminated in a ten-day trip to Russia in December. Steve and Janice have submitted reports to AIAA and Russian officials to demonstrate the twins' health and happiness. Local follow-up is being handled by Lutheran Social Services of Dayton.

The Thompsons stay in contact with the Russian translator who hosted them and plan to eventually take the boys back to visit Russia. Steve advises Christian families who are seeking to adopt not to get discouraged. "It's difficult, but adoption is an achievable goal, and it's very rewarding." The entire process took the Thompsons only about 10 months. Janice adds, "We just feel so blessed to have them."

Cedarville College Family Around The World

The Cedarville College Family is represented in more than 45 countries around the world, from Argentina to Norway and from Egypt to Japan. While many of our 200 alumni in foreign countries are missionaries, many other professions are represented as well. Rod Latham '91 is a timber wholesaler in Australia; Elizabeth Foster '93 is a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army Nurse Corps in Germany; Frank Jenista '68 is a U.S. government official in the Philippines; and Leila Perry Madeiros '83 is an accountant in Bermuda. The largest concentrations of alumni are found in Canada (47), Brazil (25), and the Philippines (11).

Carter Family Graduates Three Generations

Marvin '65 and Joan Carter Stephens '65 hold a long heritage at Cedarville College. Joan's father, Rev. William Carter, graduated in 1954, the first year of Baptist Bible Institute's operation in Cedarville. Joan and Marvin met at Cedarville and married. Their only daughter, Jennifer Stephens Winsor, is a 1992 graduate of Cedarville College. Alumni records indicate that Cedarville currently serves 160 students with a parent who attended or is a graduate. Two current students have grandparents who graduated from Cedarville.

Green Day Honors "PG" And Margaret

The Greens were showered with matching green blazers, two rocking chairs, and accolades from Dr. James T. Jeremiah, daughter Janet Tate '75, MIS secretary Cheryl Miller '83, and student government president Bowe Hoy. Alumni sent over 200 letters of gratitude and remembrance for the occasion. Also present were the Greens' other children, Kathy Boettger '78, Dan '80, and Larry '82.

PG came to the College in 1970 to become the first campus pastor, and Margaret served as his secretary. "Working as a team, they have developed the Department of Christian Ministries from its early stages to one where almost every Cedarville College student now participates in some kind of ministry activity locally or overseas," says Dr. Clifford Johnson, assistant to the president. "An excellent groundwork has been laid for those who will lead this important aspect of the Cedarville experience in the days to come."

Early in his tenure, PG and retiring Men's Basketball Head Coach Dr. Don Callan developed the Missionary Internship Service (MIS) program. PG also has overseen the students' involvement in community ministries; local church ministries; touring music, puppet, and drama teams; and the student fellowship.

Harold and Margaret will continue serving the College in the area of church relations, a ministry of encouraging pastors and their families in churches across the country.

Reiters Honored By Sons As Fifth Graduates

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Reiter have developed close family ties with Cedarville College over the last 15 years. Although they reside in Winona, Minnesota, they encouraged each of their five sons to attend Cedarville College—and each one did! Tim graduated in 1985 with a degree in accounting and now lives in the Chicago area with his wife, Denise Stuebe Reiter '85 and son, Alex. Jim graduated in 1986 and serves Naperville Bible Church in the Chicago area as associate pastor. Jim and Marsha Reiter have three sons. Tom Reiter graduated in 1988 and married Lori Anne Miesse '89. This Reiter couple has two children, Andrew and Katie, and reside in Hilliard, Ohio. Jeff Reiter graduated in 1990 and is engaged to be married to Amy Gaskins. To complete this generation of Reiters, Steve graduated with the class of 1995 with a degree in electrical engineering.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Reiter were recognized by their sons, family members, and Cedarville College during the Parents Night Program on June 2, 1995. Congratulations and best wishes from the Cedarville College Alumni Association!

The Reiter Family

Karen Hamilton Cale '69 shared her testimony with the College family during chapel.

Karen Cale Speaks To College Family

During chapel on May 10, Karen Hamilton Cale '69 shared with the college family how God has been the source of her strength and peace during the difficult days following the fatal crash of USAir Flight 427. Karen explained that her husband, Ron Cale, was returning home to Pittsburgh from a Chicago business trip. That evening she caught snatches of talk on the radio about the terrible crash of a USAir flight. Although Karen was uncertain of Ron's flight arrangements, as the evening progressed, she became increasingly concerned. By 1:30 a.m., USAir confirmed her fears.

Karen's testimony of God's strength and grace in her time of need affirmed the truth of God's promises. Not only did God provide for Karen's needs, but He also sent a special USAir representative to help the family through this difficult time. It was an exciting moment when Karen and her family discovered that the USAir representative was Dan Dunn '78, also a member of the Cedarville College family.

Dr. Dixon ended the chapel service with this scripture, "God knows the way I take. And when He hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold" (Job 23:10). The Cedarville College family assures the Cales of our continued prayers.

From The Director's Chair

One seldom has the opportunity to graduate from Cedarville College twice. But this year, it feels like I am graduating all over again. In 1990, I was asked to be a class advisor. You remember advisors—every class has one. But because it was my first year in alumni relations, I declined with the comment, "Ask me again next year." So when the 645 members of the class of 1995 arrived on campus in the fall of 1991, I was "initiated" into the role of class advisor. Actually, what had been initiated were blessings too many to name! Becoming both friend and counselor to so many young people, planning events and fund-raisers, watching friendships become marriages, talking with the class about the Cedarville College Alumni Association, and building floats have permeated the past four years...what a great way to spend my spare time!

In the beginning of this tenure, I often thought how fun and exciting it was going to be to watch the many changes that take place in the life of a college student. Actually, they have been witness to so many changes in my own life—newly married, moving and owning our first home, my father's death, and the birth of our son, Nicholas. What a blessing and a joy these young men and women have been! And it will be fun to share stories about them with Nicholas some day. Like how Shelley Fox "caught" the well-known bachelor, Jeff Beste '86, and how by our senior year we were finally able to distinguish between the two Stephanie Shermans in our class! Or the Sunday when Jonathan Misirian gave testimony to God's direction for his future, and he dedicated his life to full-time work in youth ministry. We all remember the first class chapel our junior year when Chad Cornwell and Chad Vitarelli performed a mime act to the song "Touch of the Master's Hand." There was also the night we shared our Smith family Sunday tradition of waffles, pancakes, and bacon with the class float builders. Connie Francis and I had so many appliances on that the electricity went off along with the smoke detector! The class helped Ben and me pick out names for our first child—Class of 1995 Smith and Cedarville Smith were two popular ones—and they watched as I grew and grew and grew! The day Nicholas was born, class members came to the hospital to welcome him to the world, and the class of 1995 officially named him an honorary member.

It has been four years full of great memories and God's blessings. Ben and I are praying that each new alumnus will continue to know God's blessing and cling to His Word.

"Let us (class of 1995) draw near to God with a sincere heart in full assurance of faith, having our bodies washed in pure water. Let us hold unwaveringly to the hope we profess, for He who promised is faithful" (Hebrews 10:22).

With Love and Prayers,
Your Friendly Class Advisors,

Joel and Ben

Announcing... The Second Annual Alumni Auction!

Homecoming 1995, scheduled for October 20 and 21, will host the second annual alumni auction to benefit the Alumni Scholarship Fund. Last year, the auction brought in over $20,000 to be added to the principal of the endowed fund. Through the efforts of generous alumni donations, a hard-working committee, and an active bidding floor, our first auction was a huge success!

Many items have already been contributed by alumni for the 1995 Alumni Auction. Take your pick from professional portraits, a Victorian dinner for two, scuba diving lessons in the Caribbean, a week at Sandy Cove Conference Center in Maryland, or a personally-guided tour of Moscow in Russia. If you are interested in joining this tremendous cause, contact Sandy Millikin Entner '59, chair of the auction committee, at 513-766-7855, or Jane Adams Smith '84 at 1-800-837-2566. Your contribution makes this event a success for our current students and for the Alumni Scholarship Fund!

Alumni Scholarship Awards

Business Administration

I would like to thank each alumnus who has contributed to the Alumni Scholarship Fund. Receiving this award is a great encouragement to me in my academic career. Sincerely,
Marcus Varotti

Marcus is a junior finance/accounting double major from Sao Paulo, Brazil. A member of the tennis team and the Student Academic Advisory Board, he also has served as president and vice president of finance for KEA, the student business club. Marcus has taught junior church and tutored college and high school students. He is married to Susan Beach '93.

Biblical Education

May God bless you for your commitment to inspire and help dedicated Cedarville students prepare for a lifetime of serving Jesus Christ. I thank you sincerely. To know Christ and to make Him known,
Mitch Leman

Mitch is a senior Bible comprehensive major with a missions emphasis. He is chaplain for Commuter Crossroads, an organization he helped start for students who live off-campus, and leads a Bible study for commuters. Mitch works with AWANA and has a music ministry at Clearcreek Chapel in Springboro, Ohio. He lives in Beavercreek, Ohio.

Communication Arts

Thank you very much for this honor and the financial assistance. I am grateful to the Alumni Association and all those who have given back to Cedarville in the interest of furthering Christian higher education.
Benjamin R. Failor

A senior broadcast major from Nevada, Ohio, Ben has been the color commentator for the Cedarville men's basketball games aired live on CDR Radio Network. He also has announced the varsity baseball games. Ben has been operations director for WSRN, the student radio station; a part-time operator for CDR; and a member of Beta Chi, the broadcast club.

Education

I want to express my thanks to the Alumni Association for presenting me with such an honor. God has been so gracious to me throughout my years at Cedarville College. In Christ,
Colleen E. Chapin

Colleen, a junior elementary education major from Flat Rock, Michigan, has served with Open Heirs, Summer Master's Puppets, and an MIS Australia music team. Colleen also worked with Getting Started, Li'l Sibs, and the Campus Activity Board. She has been a puppet team trainer and a teacher assistant in the Department of Science and Mathematics.

Engineering

I greatly appreciate the honor of being selected for this award and the generosity of the alumni who have made it possible. May God keep me focused on Colossians 3:23, "Whatsoever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men." God bless you,
Cherish Clark

A mechanical engineering junior from Cedarville, Ohio, Cherish has been a leader in several campus engineering organizations and extracurricular projects. She was recently tapped for Tau Beta Alpha engineering honor society. Cherish has ministered at Yellow Springs Riding Center and with AWANA, Open Heirs, and an MIS TESL team to Hungary. Her mother, Bonni-Jean, is a 1984 Cedarville graduate.

Health and Physical Education

I am truly honored and am thankful that this award can be used to continue my education at Cedarville College. May God bless you for your part in the ministry here.
Jennifer Tew

A comprehensive health and physical education major, Jennifer is a student assistant coach for Cedarville's women's basketball team and was a member of an MIS women's basketball ministry in Portugal. She also has been a member of the Student Academic Advisory Board. Jennifer worked with AWANA and served with a Habitat for Humanity team in Louisiana. She is a junior from Marion, Pennsylvania.

Language and Literature

I thank God for the many opportunities He has given me to serve Christ and grow in Him during my time here at Cedarville. May He bless you for your faithful contributions to His work. In His grip,
Beverly Keist

Beverly, a sophomore English education major, is a member of the Honors Program. A staff writer for Cedars, she also tutors. Beverly is involved with Students for Social Justice and has had a ministry at the Dayton Detention Home. She enjoys intramural softball and volleyball and hails from Delavan, Wisconsin.

Music

I would like to extend my expression of gratitude to all those who made this award possible, for those who donated money and time to the Alumni Association. It has not gone unnoticed. In Christ,
Stephen O. Estep

A sophomore piano performance major from Beavercreek, Ohio, Stephen is a versatile musician in church ministries with the String Orchestra and as music director for a Patch the Pirate Club. On campus, he has played for recitalists and for the MENC Praise Chapel and also plays percussion in the Symphonic Band. Stephen also has had a ministry at the Greene County Jail.

Nursing

Thank you for this honor. Christ is truly my strength and the supplier of all my needs. Sincerely,
Kristine L. Hoadley
Phil. 3:13-14

Kristine, a junior nursing major from Epsom, New Hampshire, is preparing to serve with an MIS nursing team in Alaska this summer. She also has been involved with AWANA, Open Heirs, Student Academic Advisory Board, and Bible study groups. She enjoys intramural soccer and was on the make-up crew for a drama production.

Psychology

It was a wonderful surprise to open my mail and discover I had received this generous award from the Alumni Association. Thank you so much. It is a tremendous privilege to accept this honor. In Christ,
Lisa M. Weirich

A freshman from Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, Lisa Weirich is majoring in applied psychology with a gerontology major. She provides care for elderly shut-ins and is a member of the varsity volleyball team.

Science and Mathematics

It is a privilege to attend a college at which the alumni desire to have such an impact in building the lives of those who follow. I began my Cedarville experience with no idea how it would be financed. God has proved Himself time and time again. Thank you for allowing Him to work through you.
Nathan Piovesan

Nathan comes to Cedarville from Wuzarumpia, Papua New Guinea. A senior biology major with a premed emphasis, he has a hospital ministry at Greene Memorial Hospital in Xenia, where he resides with wife Dorothy and 8-month-old Joshua. Nathan also is involved with Open Heirs, the Student Academic Advisory Board, Commuter Crossroads, and amateur radio.

Social Sciences and History

I am deeply grateful to the Alumni Association for this year's scholarship in the Department of Social Sciences and History. Because secular humanism dominates so much of this field in America, I am very thankful to study in a conservative Christian environment. God bless you for your generosity.
Lowell Herschberger

Lowell is a sophomore social work major from Sioux Lookout, Ontario. He has ministered in the Greene County Juvenile Detention Center, is an officer and SGA representative for Epsilon Alpha Pi, and is a member of the Men's Glee Club.

John W. Bickett Scholarship

Thanks so much for this very generous award. I praise God for your willingness to invest in the lives of students here at Cedarville, and I trust that your generosity will not go unnoticed. Sincerely,
Jim Blumenstock

Jim, a junior preseminary major from Cedarville, Ohio, works with AWANA and is preparing for an MIS trip to Italy this summer. He enjoys intramural racquetball and golf. His father, Richard Blumenstock '63, is assistant professor of Bible at Cedarville.

John W. Bickett Scholarship

This award is an answer to prayer and a strong reminder that our Father truly does meet all of our needs. Thank you. Resting in His arms,
Jennifer Yaggi

Jennifer's ministries include MIS to Venezuela, Spring Break Team to Inner City Impact, Open Heirs, College Partners, and Swords Extension. She is a resident assistant, a campus tour guide, member of the Spanish Club, Language Lab assistant, and Spanish tutor. She also helped with Getting Started. Calling Alliance, Ohio home, Jennifer is a junior comprehensive Bible major with a missions emphasis.

John W. Bickett Scholarship

It is truly humbling to see how God chooses to bless and provide for me. I thank you so much for your generosity and dedication to seeing students like me further their educational and spiritual growth at Cedarville College.
Charles Dean II

Charles, who hails from Glasford, Illinois, has chosen a comprehensive Bible major with a general studies emphasis. He has been a member of Lifeline Drama Players, Advisory Seven, Forensics team, and Delta Omega Epsilon men's service organization. He also is a resident assistant.

As the Cedarville College family grows and spreads across the globe, more and more alumni connections are being made through electronic mail. During winter quarter 1995, senior Sandy Costello did her student teaching at Black Forest Academy in Germany. Through e-mail, she connected with Gary '85 and Jennifer Matthews Anderson '86 for an impromptu alumni gathering in Switzerland! Jennifer, Sandy, Gary, and two of the Andersons' friends spent the day downhill skiing. To contact the Alumni Office through electronic mail for friends' addresses or to give an update for Inspire, write to "alumni@cedarnet.cedarville.edu".

These cousins proudly displayed their new Cedarville College T-shirts when this photo was taken in the late 1970's. Since then, three of the four followed the path to Cedarville College. John Lightly (left), son of Doug '67 and Jane Hess Lightly '69, is a junior. Debra Davidson (middle), daughter of Donald '65N and Dorothy Lightly Davidson '65N, is a junior accounting major. Lisa Lightly '94 (right), Doug's sister, earned her bachelor's degree in business communications technology and is currently working for an HMO in Peoria, Illinois. Cousin Dennis, Debra's brother, is also pictured. Thanks to our many alumni who encourage their children to consider attending Cedarville College!

Finding A Family

Dave Sallee '85 has always liked children, but he could never have predicted how he eventually came to have a family of his own. Dave simply says, "God had a plan for me."

At age 28, Dave was teaching physical education at Shepherds Baptist Ministries, a Christian home and school for mentally disabled adults in Union Grove, Wisconsin. He had applied to Shepherds after taking some education classes at Cedarville from Ellen Glanville, a Shepherds staff member and adjunct faculty member at the College. Dave enjoyed working with the residents at Shepherds and often volunteered for extra duty in the living units. "At Shepherds, I learned how much faith people can have," Dave recalls. "When the residents prayed, they expected answers to prayer. I didn't always pray that way. And God met the needs of every resident through people's gifts, because Shepherds doesn't take any money from the government for their operations. God also met my needs in incredible ways."

Little did Dave know that he was about to be used to meet the needs of some other special people. At Union Grove Baptist Church, Dave had met some families with whom he was familiar from his Cedarville days. One couple, the Holloways, (parents of Van '88, Camille '95, and Thile '95), befriended Dave, having him over to their house almost weekly. "They were like family to me," he says. In the summer of 1991, however, their Sunday evening get-togethers changed somewhat. They asked Dave if he wanted to play tennis after church, and when he arrived, he found they had also asked a young woman, Nancy, from the church to play. "The Holloways were playing 'the game of love', but I didn't catch on at first," Dave admits.

Dave knew Nancy's story, but didn't know her well. In April 1989, Nancy's husband was walking their dog when he was hit and killed by a car. In October that year, she gave birth to twin boys. Both Jacob and Tyler were given the middle name John, after their deceased father.

Over several months, Dave and Nancy stopped having popcorn after church with the Holloways and their twin daughters, and started spending more time with Nancy's twin sons. They married in February 1992. "I'm super glad that I waited for Nancy. She's perfect for me in every way. God had her picked out for me," Dave says.

Nancy was glad, too, to find a new husband who loved not only her, but her boys also. In May 1992, Dave resigned his job to go back to school full-time. But first, he took the entire summer just to spend time with his new family—including the now two-year-old twins.

Dave's third knee surgery had convinced him it was time to pursue something other than physical education, so he attended Alverno College for two years to complete his coursework for an elementary education certificate. Since graduating in 1994, he has been a substitute teacher, and he hopes to have a full-time position in the fall. The Sallees' third child, Dana Marie, is now 10 months old. Dave remembers, "At Shepherds, I sometimes did personal care—brushing residents' teeth, changing diapers. Having my own family was easier. But now that I know what a little baby is like, I see what Nancy went through as a widowed mom with twin boys."

Dave and Nancy have learned that whatever they go through, they can go through it together, and they know that God has a plan for their family.

Face To Face With Death; Face To Face With Life

Roscoe '82 and Rhonda Crist Smith '83 began married life in no hurry to begin a family. They shared a sense that they could begin building their family with children whenever they wished. So Rhonda taught kindergarten and Roscoe continued at Cedarville as guest coordinator in the Admissions Office after they were married in July 1983. In 1986, Roscoe entered a master's program at Wright State University and Rhonda became a second grade teacher when the Smiths moved to Fairborn. With just the two of them, life moved ahead with few surprises.

After completing his master of business administration degree, Roscoe returned to the Cedarville College Admissions Office in the fall of 1987. But on Memorial Day 1988, he was given grim news. The diagnosis was acute lymphocytic leukemia. Doctors explained all the possibilities—death, weight loss, hair loss, loss of hearing and sight, and sterility in 90 percent of patients. Through three years and seven months of chemotherapy, God quietly spoke to Rhonda and Roscoe, "Children are a gift, not to be conceived when you want. I give you children." After aggressive chemotherapy treatments, doctors reaffirmed the chance for children was slim. The reaffirmation of birth defects, waiting many years for conception, and most likely having no children was the best outlook doctors could give. But God had other plans.

During Labor Day weekend 1992, seven months after Roscoe's last chemotherapy treatment, Roscoe and

A Family Adventure

In 1992, Jeff Warix '80 held the job of his dreams. In his ninth year at IBM Corporation in St. Louis, Missouri, he and his wife, Debbie (Mullet '79N), had just realized another lifelong ambition—owning 77 acres of beautiful, rolling fields and woods in the country where they could rear their children. Yet Jeff shares, "As we considered building a new home on the property, we sensed a lack of peace. God intervened and made it quite clear to each of us that while these were good goals, they were not His best for us." God burdened Jeff and Debbie to serve Him in Brazil, South America as church planters, teachers in a Bible institute for nationals, and workers with the many orphaned and homeless children.

Each step of deputation is a real-life adventure as all seven children travel and participate in sharing their ministry in the churches. Justin (13), Jerad (10), James (8), and Joseph (6) share their musical talents on the violin as they perform together during church offertories. Katie (4), Abby (2), and even six-month-old Jacob join the rest of the family to sing "Here Am I, Lord, Send Me" and "A Servant's Heart." Jeff demonstrates an Amazon blow-gun while thirteen-year-old Justin holds the target...but every once in a while, Jeff misses! "We have actually enjoyed the life of deputation, and we recognize God's grace is the reason," Jeff states. Jeff and Debbie believe that God calls the family, not just the parents, to the task of missions. Their goal is to involve the family in each meeting, whether it be camp, missions conferences, or weekly services. "We have seen our kids actually look forward to many of these new experiences. Though in the beginning they were somewhat fearful, God miraculously prepared their hearts to do this," Debbie shares.

When they are not traveling in the large motor home which God provided, the four older boys enjoy hunting, fishing, and golfing with their dad. Katie (4) and Abby (2) enjoy helping mommy at home. Six-month-old Jacob has found that his big brothers and sisters consider him their personal property to play with. With an education background from Cedarville, Debbie home-schools the children and may continue to do so when they reach Brazil.

Hailing from Jerseyville, Illinois, the Warixes hope to leave for the field in mid-1996, but are waiting on the Lord's direction. In April 1995, they reached 50% of their needed monthly support. As Jeff reflects on the experience of deputation and God's miraculous provision, he shares, "I feel a renewed vigor to enjoy and appreciate the time the Lord has given us together, even on a busy and sometimes demanding deputation schedule. God has given us a wonderful family and an opportunity to serve Him. He truly blessed us above and beyond what we could ask or think."

Rhonda found out that she was pregnant! Great joy mixed with anxiety about the health of their unborn child, but testing indicated that the baby and pregnancy were low risk. On April 27, 1993, Kalie Rose came into the world, ten years after Roscoe and Rhonda married. "The birth experience is something I will never forget or grow tired of talking about," Roscoe shares. "What an exciting miracle from God!" Roscoe believes battling cancer made him better prepared to be a father. "Facing death taught me what love was all about. God showed me love every day through Rhonda. She loved me when I had lost 40 pounds, had no hair, and lived in the hospital for seven months."

The Smiths' second blessing, Jaden Blake, was born March 25, 1995. During a family car ride, Kalie gave her input on increasing the family. She thought a little brother would be just great! While testing for possible birth defects during the crucial third month of Jaden's development, Roscoe and Rhonda found out this child would be a son.

"When you face your mortality and life and death hang in the balance, you see so clearly what is important, and you get rid of what is unimportant. Rhonda and my children are the most important people God has entrusted to my care," reflects Roscoe. Although in remission for several years, Roscoe is uncertain how many years he will have to spend with his family. "I enjoy every moment I have with them," Roscoe says.

During a recent testimony at his church, Faircreek Church in Fairborn, Roscoe shared, "I am certain that God brought me face to face with death so that He could bring me face to face with the miracle of life...and facing life was sweeter because of it."

The committee for the second annual Alumni Auction which benefits the Alumni Scholarship Fund is looking for a few good donations! Last year over 100 alumni and friends of Cedarville College gave works of art (paintings, prints, sculptures, calligraphy, etc.) quilts, needlework, pottery, antiques, and Cedarville College memorabilia to be auctioned during Homecoming. This effort raised over $20,000 for the Alumni Scholarship Fund! If you are interested in contributing an item to be auctioned or need more information, please contact Jane Adams Smith '84 in the Alumni Office at 1-800-837-2566 or Sandy Millikin Entner '59, the auction chair, at 513-766-7855.

GLAD, the Christian music group well-known for their acapella sound and style, performed for a sold-out audience in the James T. Jeremiah Chapel during Parents Weekend. The five artists sang sacred hymns, a Christmas number, and music from their newer albums.

Heritage Corner

Heritage Alumni Gather On Cedar Day

The Heritage Alumni of Cedarville College remember May Day well. Jessamine Trumbo Wilson '33 still has the diagram of the May Pole dance to prove it! Thirty-two Heritage Alumni gathered on the campus of Cedarville College to commemorate the event over lunch and the matinee performance of William Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing. Two John W. Bickett

Scholarship recipients joined the luncheon in the President's Dining Room and enjoyed sharing their plans for the future, which include seminary and full-time Christian service as missionaries.

Jennifer Yaggi, the first female recipient of the John W. Bickett Scholarship Award, and Jim Blumenstock gave testimonies along with their thanks to the many Heritage Alumni who support the fund. Each student receives a plaque and a scholarship stipend of $1500 to be used for tuition at Cedarville College.

The Heritage Alumni were also one of the first groups to view a video for the new Ministry Center, which highlights the building and the variety of functions it will serve, including chapel five days a week, just like in the early 1900s.

Creswell Clan Continues At Cedarville

The first Creswell began as a freshman at Cedarville College in 1907. Almost 90 years later, the Creswell family continues to be a part of Cedarville College history. Frank Creswell graduated in 1910 and went on to become a trustee of the college in the 1930s.

Howard '10N and Mary Ellen Lownes Creswell '13 gave birth to eight daughters, five of whom followed their parents into higher education at Cedarville. The oldest, Mary Helen Creswell Grube '37N, was a member of the Young Women's Christian Association during her college days. According to the 1938 Cedrus, Rachel Creswell Funderburg '38 was "nationally known" for her smiling countenance. Junia Creswell Laughman '41 sang for the "Melody Maids," a women's quartet. Following their sisters' example, Rebecca Creswell Straley '54N and Dorothy Creswell Butts '55N sang in the college choir. Dorothy was even named

"Cedar Day Queen" her freshman year! Numerous cousins, aunts, and uncles also graced the doors of Cedarville College.

The legacy continues today. Jim Creswell, currently a sophomore at Cedarville, is the grandson of Nelson and Gertrude Hammon Creswell '32, cousin to the Creswell sisters. Amy Evilsizor, also a sophomore, enjoys being close to her grandparents, Wilmer and Rachel Creswell Funderburg '38, who live in nearby New Carlisle, Ohio.

Sisters Junia '41, Mary Helen '37N, and Rachel '38 continue to be active in Heritage Alumni activities.

Rohm Takes Helm Of Christian Ministries

"I think of myself as a cheerleader. I want to help instill in students the value of the local church; of Christian ministries, whether vocational or voluntary; and of the Christian life—knowing God and dealing in areas of the spiritual disciplines," Bob Rohm '68 shares.

The former director of planned giving at Cedarville College assumed the responsibilities of Vice President for Christian Ministries on June 1.

"Christian Ministries at Cedarville has grown to the place that it will demand focusing my efforts in administrative oversight while being available to the students to serve them," Rohm continues. "I have great appreciation and respect for Dr. Green and look forward to building on the Christian service and missionary experiences he has developed."

After graduating from Cedarville with a degree in business administration, Rohm pursued a career in business in Dallas, Texas for several years. He earned a master of religious education degree at Grand Rapids Baptist Seminary and then served with Bethel Baptist Church in Fruitport, Michigan for 12 years. As associate pastor, his ministry included working with college-age young people.

Rohm returned to Cedarville to join the development division in 1986. His involvement with ministry included leading a Missionary Internship Service (MIS) team to Australia and teaching in the Pastors Bible Institute in Togo, West Africa. He also led a Bible study for Cedarville College graduates teaching in China while he was in Beijing to renegotiate contracts for the teachers. He has chaired several college committees including the Chapel Task Team.

"As a college administrator," Bob says, "I'm eager to represent Christian Ministries in the decision-making process of the College."

A member of Grace Baptist Church in Cedarville, Rohm chaired both the board of deacons and the pastoral search committee. He has taught various Sunday School classes and provides pulpit supply for other churches.

He and his wife, Lynn Amstutz '68, are the parents of Mrs. Jackie Wetzel '92 of Tipp City, Ohio, and Jeff, a 1995 graduate.

College Taps Reep As Head Basketball Coach

Jeff Reep '78 returns to Cedarville College to take over the head coaching position for the Yellow Jacket men's basketball program. "A lot of times, as a new coach, you come into a program when it's down, but to come in when it's going very well is really exciting," says Reep. "I feel like I've been close to the program right along, having played and coached for Dr. Callan and staying in close contact." When Dr. Don Callan announced his retirement from coaching in April following a legendary 35-year career, the first thing he did as athletic director was announce Reep as his personal choice to take his position.

"It's a great opportunity," Reep says, "and it's important to keep the program on the same track that it's been going." He will assume his new position by July 1.

Reep has been a collegiate coach for the past 17 years. Since 1984, he has been an assistant at New Mexico State University and most recently held the title of associate head coach. Prior to his tenure at New Mexico State, Reep spent the 1983-84 season as an assistant at Stetson University in Florida. He was a graduate assistant at Delta State in Mississippi 1979-81 and served as an assistant coach at the school 1981-83. He was the junior varsity coach at Cedarville College for the 1978-79 season.

Reep played four years at Cedarville from 1974 through 1978, and his 1,279 career points presently rank him 17th on the Yellow Jackets' all-time scoring list. He was a two-year captain, two-time Cedarville MVP, and was twice named to the All-Mid-Ohio Conference and All-NAIA District 22 teams. Reep also had a ministry at the Dayton Detention Home.

Concerning the move from New Mexico State to Cedarville, Reep states, "Cedarville is my alma mater. I'm excited about running my own program, and I look forward to being here for a long time."

Reep will also serve as an instructor in the Department of Health and Physical Education. He and his wife, Criss Wilson '82, are the parents of four boys.

In addition to presenting 12 academic scholarship awards and three John W. Bickett Scholarships, the Cedarville College Alumni Association assists students through three other scholarship funds. The Good News Scholarship Fund awards $500 annually to a student committed to future schooling and a vocation as pastor. The MK Loan and Grant Fund assists upperclassmen whose parents serve with a missionary agency. Scholarships given from this fund during 1994, 1995, and 1996 will total approximately $9,500. The Second Generation Scholarship Fund (SGS) is awarded to current students who have at least one parent who is a graduate of Cedarville College. Approximately $2000 in scholarships will be given from the SGS fund during 1994, 1995, and 1996.

Hundreds of visitors came to campus for Parents Weekend May 5-6. Activities included the Honors Day Chapel; the popular POPS concert; the spring drama production, "Much Ado About Nothing"; the NCCAA Track and Field Championships; a father-daughter breakfast; a parent-student golf scramble; a presentation by dramatist Max McLean; and the acapella sounds of GLAD.

Graduation '95

Diploma in hand, El Seabra expresses in his smile the joy that over 400 Cedarville graduates feel on graduation day.

During his commencement address, Dr. Dixon challenged the graduates to "Take 'quit' out of your vocabulary. Never quit on God, on your spouse, on your kids, on your friends, or on yourself."

Whittaker sisters Kristina Snavely '85, Judy Cornfield '86, and Jenny Madden '89 return to Cedarville to congratulate their youngest sister, Keila, upon her graduation. Keila earned a degree in elementary education.

During commencement, April Seely thanks God for her Cedarville education and commits her future to Him.

Senior class president Troy Hamilton presented the Senior Class Gift to President Dixon. The class raised over $8,000 to purchase a solid brass replica of the Cedarville College seal which will attach to a granite wall and span five feet in diameter. Placed in the lobby of the new Ministry Center, which is under construction, this seal will be a beautiful welcome to students, parents, alumni, and campus visitors.

President Dixon with Dr. William Rudd and his family. Dr. Rudd, a trustee of the College, received an honorary doctorate conferred by Cedarville College during commencement.

In the annual Honors Day program May 5, 1995, 60 academic scholarships were awarded to 56 recipients. Three graduating seniors received the Christian Ministries Awards—Kimberly Koziol, Troy Hamilton, and Michael Pasquale. The Ruby Jeremiah Scholarships, which recognize married women completing their education and active in Christian service, were awarded to Sarah Siegelin Kline '95 and Laura Marks Smith '96. The Student Government Association presented the first SGA award to sophomore Sam Olsen as an outstanding student senator. This award is based on academics, service to the student body, and impact on the organization.

Cedarville College hosted 18 schools at the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) Track & Field Championship on May 5-6, 1995. For the second straight year and the fourth time overall, Cedarville won the NCCAA Women's Championship. Senior Stephanie Sherman was named the Outstanding Performer of the Meet for the second time in three years, and senior Jennifer Zenner received the Wheeler Award as the Outstanding Christian Track and Field Athlete of the Year in the NCCAA. Cedarville's men placed second in the NCCAA Men's Track & Field Championship.

Chaplain's Challenge

Erin Weaver '95 graduates with a degree in biblical education with a preseminary emphasis. As student body chaplain, he leaves this message to the 2,325 members of the Cedarville College student body, including the graduating class of 1995:

*We wear His name
The name above all names
We wear His name
In a world that's lost in hopelessness
We are called to be the light
We wear His name.*

- Newsong

Status is often defined by a name. All across America, students are graduating from their respective colleges or universities and entering the "real world" of the job market. The names of some colleges pull a great deal of weight in the interview process! But as believers in Christ, we wear the name that outweighs them all—CHRISTIAN. The word "Christian" means "Christ-like one," which implies that we represent Christ today. The name of an educational institution can't help the hurting, struggling, lost people of this world searching for answers. The love of Christ will. "And whatever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus..." (Colossians 3:17).

Student body chaplain Erin Weaver poses with his parents, missionaries with ABWE, who returned from England for the graduation ceremonies. Erin served as class chaplain during his junior year and as student body chaplain his senior year.

Hailing from Mattawan, Michigan, Jennifer Bartosiewicz completed an English degree with an emphasis in creative writing. Jennifer was editor of Exponent, a student newspaper for the Honors Program.

Stephanie Sherman broke three outdoor records during her career on the track and field team—long jump, triple jump, and 100 meter hurdles. Stephanie earned a degree in biology, with an emphasis in secondary education.

An international student from the Philippines, Todd chose to major in international studies. Todd was a senior leader on the Yellow Jacket tennis team, finishing his senior year with a 12-5 record in singles tennis. During his academic career, Todd maintained a 3.9 grade point average.

Congratulations

Todd Entner, Jennifer Bartosiewicz, and Stephanie Sherman were awarded the President's Trophy for 1995. The President's Trophy is presented based on ministry, community and campus involvement, athletic achievement, and academic achievement.

Estes, Coy Named Faculty/Staff Members Of The Year

During the Honors Day Chapel, Dr. Daniel Estes was named the Faculty Member of the Year and Mrs. Sherry Coy, the Staff Member of the Year.

Dr. Estes is Professor of Biblical Education and Assistant Academic Vice President. A 1974 Cedarville graduate, he returned to join the faculty in 1984, after serving four years as assistant pastor at Clintonville Baptist Church in Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Estes has published articles in a number of professional journals, the textbook for the Introduction to Bible Study course at the College, and adult Sunday School materials for Regular Baptist Press. He has served on a number of college committees, including chairing the General Education Revision Task Team. He and his wife, Carol, have three children.

Sherry Coy served ten years as secretary to the Vice President of Student Services and has been textbook buyer in the College Bookstore for the past six years. She and her husband, Carroll, have been short term missionaries in Puerto Rico on two occasions. Most recently, they went with Calvary Evangelical Missions to San Juan, where Sherry was secretary to the station manager of WIVV, a mission radio station, and Carroll helped with construction. The Coys have three children and three grandchildren.

Also, the Cedarville College Medal of Honor was presented jointly to Bob and Polly Reese of Elkhart, Indiana.

Dr. Murray Murdoch '88H, who announced his retirement as tennis coach at the end of the 1994 season, participated in a farewell tennis match and reception in his honor on March 25, 1995. Coach Murdoch's family, including sons Jim '87 and Mark '91 were able to attend along with tennis alumni. Ron Baker '69 and Alan Edlund '77, the current Yellow Jacket men's tennis coach, organized the event.

Congratulations to the five winners of our "Name-That-Team" contest in the spring Inspire—Kenneth Cole '70, Teresa Geiger Burk '85, Dee Wiseman '84, Faith Linn '83, and Kirk Keller '83! Each winner received a Cedarville College Alumni T-shirt displaying the college seal. The 1980-81 basketball team pictured (Drew Baker '82, Eric Mounts '81, Tim Danube '84, Tim Pryor '84, Rich Himes '84, David Carr '83, Greg Greve '81, Curt Berger '81, Malcolm Dixon '84N, Mark Womack '83, Todd Hamlet '84N, Todd Townsend '84, and Larry Green '82) set more than 15 records during the season and won the NAIA District 22 playoffs.

Regional Gathering Update

In Colorado

Denver Theological Seminary served as a wonderful location for 40 alumni and friends of Cedarville College to gather. After delicious desserts, the group enjoyed viewing the college video and talking about college days. Thanks to Keith Willhite '80 and Linden '74 and Ellie Dritsas Kirby '75 for planning this great event!

In Chicago

Thirty-three Cedarville College alumni and friends gathered at Naperville Bible Church for a dessert reception and video about the new Ministry Center. Tim '85 and Denise Stuebe Reiter '85, along with Jim '86 and Marsha Reiter, helped organize and host the event. Several alums appreciated going home with Cedarville College T-shirts or sweatshirts from the door-prize drawing.

OPE Reunion Weekend In Chicago

Alumni of the student organization Omega Pi Epsilon gathered in Chicago during the last weekend in January. Hosted by Paul McGrady '93, the group enjoyed feasting at a traditional German restaurant, a trip to the Chicago Art Institute, and attending Sunday morning worship at Moody Church. Joe Stowell '66, joined his fellow alumni for this snapshot following the service.

In Indianapolis

Rich '75 and Yvonna Cope McGhee '73 hosted a dessert reception in their Pittsboro home. Over 20 Indianapolis alumni met with Director of Alumni Relations Jane Adams Smith '84 and received the latest college news. Rich and Yvonna hope this is the beginning of an annual alumni event in the Indianapolis area.

David Jeremiah Honored By OFIC

The Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges (OFIC) recently inducted Dr. David Jeremiah '63 into the OFIC Hall of Excellence. The son of Dr. James T. Jeremiah, chancellor and former president of the College, and the late Ruby Jeremiah, David is president of Christian Heritage College and pastor of Shadow Mountain Community Church in El Cajon, California. He was on the pastoral staff of Haddon Heights Baptist Church in Haddon Heights, New Jersey and was the first pastor of Blackhawk Baptist Church in Fort Wayne, Indiana. A popular speaker for conferences and professional sports chapels, he also has published 12 books. "Turning Point," a 30-minute radio program of Bible teaching that features David, is aired daily on more than 350 stations. Dr. Jeremiah earned the master of theology degree from Dallas Theological Seminary and received the doctor of divinity degree from Cedarville College.

His wife, Donna '63, graduated with a degree in business administration. They have four children. Janice and David graduated from Christian Heritage College. Jennifer is a sophomore at Cedarville, and Daniel attends Christian High School.

Dr. David Jeremiah and Dr. Paul Dixon.

Thirteen alumni, all of whom serve with mission agencies, joined Director of Alumni Relations Jane Adams Smith '84 for breakfast in the President's Dining Room on March 23. These alumni returned to campus for Missions Emphasis Week during spring quarter and were available to talk with students concerning missions opportunities.

The Good News Scholarship, provided anonymously by a Cedarville alumnus, is designed to assist students who intend to continue their education in seminary and prepare for full-time Christian vocation. This year's recipient, David Mullins, is a senior from Franklin, Pennsylvania. David is active as a youth leader at Emmanuel Baptist Church in Xenia, Ohio. He has also led a ministry team to the Yellow Springs Riding Center for the mentally and physically challenged. David shares, "Praise God for the gifts, blessings, and opportunities to serve that He has given me." This scholarship helps to satisfy an urgent financial need for David.

Focus On The Field

David '56 and Joan Austin Gardner '56N are missionaries in Copperas Cove, Texas, pastoring Faith Baptist Church. In March 1995, Joan began a six-month series of chemotherapy treatments after a malignant tumor was removed from her chest. Dave and Joan rejoice in God's provision and covet your prayers that they may "come forth as gold."

Jeannie Lockerbie '61 has been a missionary in Bangladesh for thirty-three years. In June 1995, Jeannie began a new ministry as director of publications for the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism (ABWE) at their Harrisburg, Pennsylvania headquarters. This will include producing the Message magazine, upgrading current publications, and developing a book-publishing arm of the mission. She will also help other countries establish their literature works. Pray for Jeannie as she adjusts to living and working in the United States.

Byron '68 and Libby Ross Shearer '70 are appointees to Russia under Evangelical Baptist Mission. While in Russia, the Shearers will share God's love in a variety of ways, including camp ministries, sports programs, teaching English, and personal evangelism. They will also help to train pastors. Daughters Joni (17) and Suzy (8) will accompany their parents to Russia, while Betsy (19) continues her studies at Cedarville College. Their son, Andy '94, lives in El Segundo, California.

David '81 and Carol Cox Merkh '82 have completed their second four-year term at the Word of Life Seminary in Atibaia, Brazil. The Merks returned to the United States in June 1995 for furlough. During this time, they will rejoin the pastoral staff of Fellowship Baptist Church in Mount-Laurel, New Jersey and visit their supporting churches.

Becki Payton Konuch '84 and her husband, Tim, missionaries with Association of Baptists for World Evangelism (ABWE), left for the Philippines on January 16, 1995 with a scheduled layover in Osaka, Japan. After close to eight hours of flight, their pilot announced the severe earthquake in Kobe, just outside Osaka. The plane returned to Detroit, and their flight was rescheduled. The Konuchs praise God they were in the air at the time of the earthquake and not refueling on the ground in Japan; they are also grateful for sufficient fuel to return to the U.S. without the need of an emergency landing.

Camille McGraw '86 first visited Spain on an MIS puppet team in 1985. After three years of teaching elementary school in the United States, Cami committed her life to missions. For the past five years, she has taught missionary children at Evangelical Christian Academy in Madrid, Spain.
